Should Rolla give millions in tax breaks to billionaire developers?

According to the Rolla Daily News (Feb. 23, 2016), the Rolla West TIF project will give away at least $7 million in property taxes and $5 million in sales taxes. Instead of millions of dollars going to Rolla schools, the tax money is set to fund a development proposed by investors including billionaire Stan Kroenke, owner of the St. Louis LA Rams, who is now seeking taxpayer assistance. Unfair to local businesses?

When some stores are subsidized by taxpayers, local businesses may find it harder to compete. Is it fair to Rolla's businesses that wealthy investors have an uneven playing field?
